

Nathan Harris D.D.S., M.S.D.

ORTHODONTICS

Dr. Nathan Harris leads one of Dallas' most respected orthodontic practices, conveniently located at Preston Road and Lovers Lane, as well as a satellite practice in Forney.

Named one of the Best Dentists in Dallas in orthodontics numerous times in D Magazine, he is a graduate of Highland Park High School with a strong family history in dentistry, as his late father, Dr. Joseph "Andy" Harris, was a pediatric dentist and a professor in the graduate residency program at Texas A&M College of Dentistry. He was named among the Best Dentists in Dallas on multiple occasions as well.

In practice for 20 years, Dr. Harris has a state-of-the-art, completely digital practice. Although high-tech, the office exudes a comfortable, inviting atmosphere where patients feel at home. Dr. Harris specializes in the diagnosis, prevention, and treatment of dental and facial irregularities for children and adults and is considered a foremost expert in all orthodontic treatment options. He is joined in his practice by Dr. Katie Rochester who completed her dental training and orthodontic residency at Texas A&M College of Dentistry.

Outside of practicing dentistry and spending time with his wife Diana and their nine children, Dr. Harris has completed 13 full-distance Ironman triathlons and is scheduled to compete in the 2024 Ironman World Championship in Hawaii.
