PEDIATRIC DENTISTRY

Dr. Melissa Rozas is honored to have been named one of the Best Dentists in Dallas again this year. She has more than 25 years of experience treating infants, toddlers, and teens and is passionate about educating families about oral health through prevention and early diagnosis. "We have the unique opportunity to help children achieve a healthy smile and develop preventive behaviors to support a lifetime of oral and systemic health," she says.

Dr. Rozas has a remarkable team, including associates and staff members who have been carefully selected because of their passion for treating children. "Having a cohesive dental team that loves children is the key to giving our patients excellent care and an enjoyable dental experience," Dr. Rozas says. Many of Dr. Rozas' clinical and business staff members have been with her for more than 20 years, and their devotion to the children of the practice is evident the minute you walk through the door. Dr. Rozas is dedicated to helping children, and she is confident that the best way to accomplish this is by continuing to learn and evolve in such a dynamic field. "Providing excellent dental care includes more than just brushing, flossing, and looking for cavities," she says. "It involves accessing the oral structures and how these affect sleep, eating, breathing, and speaking issues."

Dr. Rozas is board certified by the American Board of Pediatric Dentistry and is a Fellow in the American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry. She has been honored with many awards in publications, including Best Dentists in Dallas in D Magazine and North Texas Child's Mom-Approved Pediatric Dentist. In addition, she is a respected leader in the state and local dental community for the last 25 years. She is past president of the Texas Academy of Pediatric Dentistry and is in her 12th year as chairman of the Greater Dallas Pediatric Dental Society. She also served as director of District V for the College of Diplomates, American Board of Pediatric Dentistry.
