ORTHODONTICS

D Magazine Best Dentists in Dallas for a combined 14 years, Dr. Nadia Lyotard, often endearingly referred to by her patients as “The Swiss Doc,” and Dr. Petra Schubert, who has led a successful University Park orthodontic practice for several decades, have combined their orthodontic practices to serve patients at their new, family-friendly boutique orthodontic practice in the Park Cities. Serving both children and adults, they specialize in custom orthodontic solutions, offering a choice of Invisalign clear aligners as well as state-of-the-art braces.

Originally from Switzerland, Dr. Lyotard grew up around her mother’s orthodontic practice, watching her transform children’s smiles. A third-generation dentist, she relocated to Dallas 10 years ago to work side by side with the world leading Invisalign expert from whom she acquired the practice and where she learned advanced Invisalign case-planning techniques. Dr. Schubert was born and raised in Germany and came to Dallas in 1989 to work on a research project at SMU. She was later awarded a Master of Science in orthodontics following a three-year residency at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

Dr. Lyotard, an Elite Platinum Invisalign provider, has combined her adult Invisalign expertise with her extensive experience in providing children’s braces to offer Invisalign for Kids and Teens. While Dr. Lyotard loves helping adults achieve the smile they’ve always wanted, she also loves helping kids seize upon the once-in-a-lifetime opportunity provided by their growth phase. A Diplomate of the American Board of Orthodontics, Dr. Schubert enjoys creating beautiful smiles and lasting relationships with her patients, knowing their treatment has a direct effect on their health, self-esteem, and confidence.

By combining their expertise, dedication, and commitment to their patients, Dr. Lyotard and Dr. Schubert aim to deliver personalized solutions with exceptional results.
