

Gabrielle C. Dizon, D.D.S.

GENERAL DENTISTRY

When Gabrielle “Gabby” Dizon decided to become a dentist, she set a goal to open a practice that would facilitate change in the way people view dentistry. “I noticed that many people were still too frightened to go to the dentist,” she says. “I wanted to create a practice and offer a completely different experience so people won’t dread going to the dentist and can get the care they need.”

When you enter Dr. Dizon’s warm, welcoming practice, you won’t notice a “typical dental office smell” or hear sounds—like drilling—that can trigger anxiety. Instead, you’ll enjoy a soothing, spa-like experience and be greeted by a friendly staff that makes patient comfort a top priority. “I have centered my practice around how patients want to be treated,” Dr. Dizon says. “I love the art of dentistry and how it combines science with different ways of thinking. Today’s dentistry challenges me to not only do what’s best for the tooth, but for the patient as a whole. I always ask myself, ‘What would I want done for me in this situation?’ ‘How would I want to be treated?’ I think this can become forgotten in the hustle and bustle of running a busy practice, so I try to keep everything patient-focused.”

Dr. Dizon grew up in East Dallas and graduated from Ursuline Academy of Dallas. She has practiced dentistry for the past six years, recently opening her own boutique dental practice, Dizon Dental Aesthetics. She provides a wide array of services, including family and general dentistry, cosmetic dentistry, whitening, implants, and periodontics, among other state-of-the-art services. With an eye for detail, she enjoys all procedures and strives to provide compassionate care with a gentle touch.

“I based my new practice on building relationships with patients,” Dr. Dizon says. “I like getting to know my patients beyond only what is going on with their oral health. I am interested in who they are as a person and how I can connect with them. I try to provide a sense of calm for my patients and make myself available to them, and am approachable so they aren’t scared to ask me for help. I treat my patients like friends and family.”

Dr. Dizon is a member of the American Dental Association, Texas Dental Association, Dallas County Dental Society, and the Spear Study Club. She is married to her high school sweetheart, Greg, and they reside in Dallas.
